

Loot

How should I loot on the server?

We encourage you to drag all loot from the containers to the floor when you are looting. Our server clears all floor loot periodically.

This helps ensure the containers will continue generating loot and that players following behind you have an opportunity to collect whatever you left behind.

How often does loot respawn?

Loot respawns dynamically. The details of that dynamic process are not shared publicly and change periodically to ensure a fairer looting experience for all.

This container isn't spawning loot

The most likely answer is that another player keeps getting there before you. Seeing loot on the floor is a clear indication you were late to the party.

If you truly believe the containers you are visiting are not spawning loot, and you know they definitely did before, then you can attempt to "seed" the containers.

"Seeding" loot containers

1. Highlight the container you want to seed.
2. Click Transfer All on the top bar, even if there are no items in that container at all.
3. Put any item you own in the container.
4. Leave the item in there for a few minutes.
5. Take the item back out of the container.

The container is now "seeded" and should spawn loot normally going forward.

This is not a common requirement, most containers spawn loot normally.