Breaking News

While there is still no word on a cure for the virus, government officials report the virus is not airborne, but it can be transferred through contact with blood and other bodily fluids. The virus seems to be making people uncontrollably violent and also somehow seems to be reanimating the dead. When asked, a White house spokesman declined to comment on whether or not this was a terrorist attack. Due to the violent nature of the ones infected the virus is spreading rapidly. Government officials are reporting that there is no known cure for the virus, and is urging citizens to stay in their homes and avoid contact. Citizens are also urged to lock and barricade all doors, windows and any other point of entry. [[unintelligible]] local governments to declare martial law. The president has [[unintelligible]] citizens find safety and remain calm. Authorities are working on a plan to contain the outbreak.

This is the emergency broadcast system. This is not a test. Repeat this is not a test. The Center for Disease Control is reporting the outbreak of a new virus strain that is causing the infected to become extremely vicious and to exhibit cannibalistic tendencies. As of this broadcast there is no known cure for the blood borne virus. In order to keep you and your family safe, the CDC is advising that you stay in your homes and lock all doors, block all windows and barricade any point of entry. Keep calm and listen to the radio or TV for official news updates. Again, stay indoors and maintain protective measures until notified by the media or public safety. Stay tuned for further instructions.

Attention. Attention. This is the emergency broadcast system. We have just been informed that the city is now on the emergency power system. Please inform the control center if your shelter is without light. We have confirmed reports that only those bitten by the infected are dying before rising as another one of the infected. Do not approach the infected. Stay indoors, away from windows, and do not make any loud noises.

Attention. Attention. This is the emergency broadcast system. This is a report from the Emergency National Command post in Washington. The president and his key civilian and military aids have been safely evacuated to the emergency seat of government. This evening at 2:35pm the virus has wrecked untold devastation on the civilian population and any survivors are encouraged to use any means necessary to stay alive. The president, whom I repeat is alive and well, will address the nation as soon as his command duties permit. This is the end of the priority 1 report. Local emergency broadcasting stations may resume priority 2 broadcasting.

Attention. Attention. This is the emergency broadcast system. This is a report from the governors office in Frankfurt. The state of conditions in Kentucky is critical. All communication with DC and the emergency seat of government has been lost. The Trimble county power station is severely damaged due to what we believe is the infected being drawn to the heat and noise from the facility. All citizens should seek shelter immediately. Do not attempt to evacuate your area until you are instructed to do so. Local law enforcement personnel should remain in their respective areas. State police have been assigned to more critical areas and additional state aid will become available and be assigned to the worst affected areas.

Attention. Attention. This is the emergency broadcast system. Emergency teams have been established and have begun to operate in various sections of Trimble county. There is a shortage of able bodied man and women to assist with efforts to restore power and order to the greater Trimble county area. All available citizens please submit to the emergency operations center designated as the police station and sanctuary. Further information will be provided upon arrival. Stay safe and god speed.

Attention. Attention. This is the emergency broadcast system. Critical command staff in both the government and military have gone dark. This may be due to lack of long range communication or the infection. Any surviving military please report to your local command leaders for instruction. Further, any surviving local leaders may acquire civilian conscripts as needed to maintain local order. Expect no additional resources from any supply depots. Good luck.

Attention. Attention. This is the emergency broadcast system. Hello, to anyone still listening to these broadcasts. This is Sergeant Apollo. I am the current commander of the local Kentucky National Guard outpost. I will be assuming command of the local area. With many civilian conscripts joining, and a more informal attitude, I am relabeling us as the Kentucky State Standing Army. Our main priority will be the defense, and ongoing operation of the Trimble County Power Station; as well as, maintaining order in the greater Louisville area. We will be calling on any available civilians in the coming days for assistance. Thank you.

Attention. Attention. This is the emergency broadcast system. The KSSA has successfully repaired the automated alerting system. We've tuned the TCPS alert system to use this and broadcast when and where repairs are needed. If the power has gone out, please check the #events channel, or the motd envelope for information on how to restore it. Sergeant Apollo, over and out.

Attention. Attention. This is the emergency broadcast system. The riots during the initial zed event have led to the destruction of pumps at multiple gas stations. Gas reserves across the county are dwindling quickly. Currently, the only stations that the KSSA were able to defend are in Sanctuary, Muldraugh, West Point, Riverside, Rosewood, and by the hospital in LV. Good luck survivors.
