Dear Survivors,

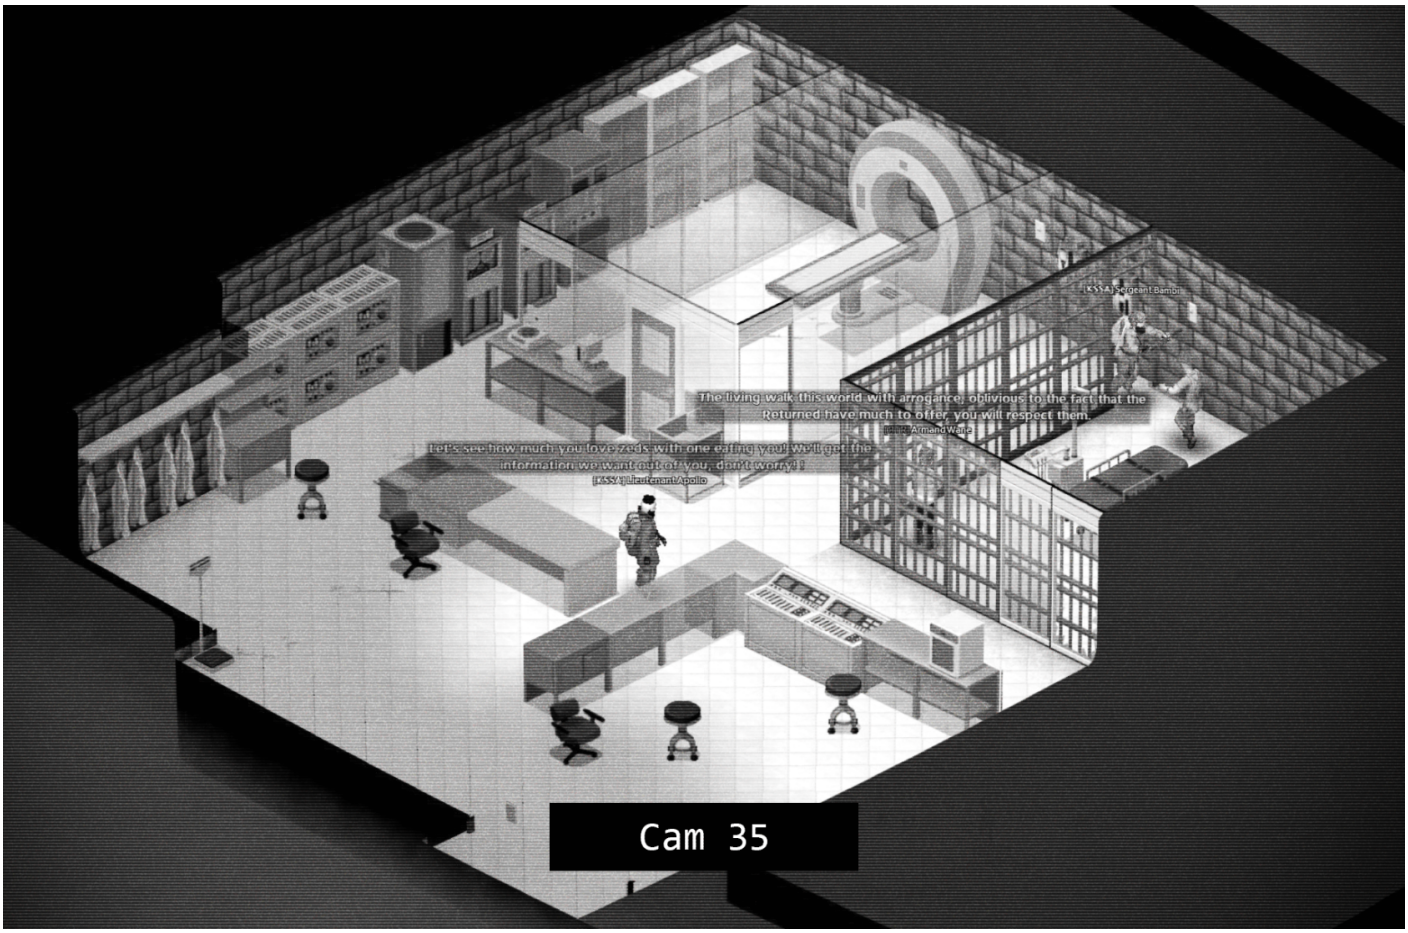

We've been able to extract information from our prisoner. It seems maybe their love for the undead may not run as deep as they claim. It didn't take long in a cell with a zed before he started spilling his guts, first figuratively, then literally.

Regardless, it seems my unease was warranted after all. The Requiem is planning an all out war on Sanctuary. I've already reached out to St. Memphis, and because of all your generous donations, they're willing to provide any and all close air support we need. With this air support and all of you, I'm confident we can repel any attack they could possibly bring to bear against us.

In the near future we'll be asking for your assistance to assist with an effort to further reinforce Sanctuary for an attack. Thank you for your time today.

Sincerely,

Lieutenant Apollo
Leader of the KSSA
