

Sabotage Investigation, April 4th, 1995

Mission Briefing

Apollo:

“ Hello, Let’s get Started. Our remote monitoring system identified multiple points of failure before completely going offline. The peculiar part in this instance is the lack of any weather or obvious direct causes. The timing of the failures is also quite suspect. The initial three happened almost simultaneously. Then two more followed before we completely lost contact with Trimble County. At the failure locations we were able to inspect, the others being overrun by zeds, we found clear evidence of explosives and chainsaws being used to destroy critical infrastructure. This is very clearly sabotage. Our mission today consists of multiple parts. At each location today the primary objective will be to clear the area and investigate the sabotaged areas for any clues as to who may be behind this. We’ll be splitting you into groups, the first group and main host of our volunteers will go to Trimble County Power Plant. At Trimble County, complete the main objectives, further you’ll need to search for any power plant personnel that may have survived, they’ll likely be in the offices attached to the main building. Once complete, return to sanctuary with any evidence and survivors. The remaining groups will travel to the Rosewood Power Box, and Winchester Power Box respectively and complete the primary objectives.

Mission Debriefing

Apollo:

“ No survivors made it at Trimble County Power Plant. Specialists are en route to fix the failures in the power plant. Mysterious flyers were spread at each sabotage location and around the bodies of the engineers at Trimble County

Power Plant.
